THE NEW ERA.
Newmarket, Friday, September 7, 1860.

General Summary.

Special trains will leave our station to-day and to-morrow at 7:30 a.m. for Toronto. Your trains will leave here both days and return.

The North York Electoral Agricultural Show takes place in Newmarket on the 9th and 10th days of October. The prizes will be published next week.

We have pleasure in announcing to the friends of Dr. Nairn, that that gentle man has returned from his trip to Europe. We are much improved in health. We presume he will at once resume the practice of his profession.

On Saturday, the 25th instant, the running match between the Bond Head and Holland Landing Clubs was played on the ground of the former, and resulted in favor of the Bond Head Club, with $300 to split.

We beg to remind the directors of Whitelock Agricultural Society of the meeting announced for Saturday, the 15th instant, at Pine Orchard. Parties intending to compete for prizes in pools, should also see to it that their entries are made in time.

From a Report of the proceedings of the June Session of the County Council of Simcoe, we learn West Gwillimbury is taxed for general purposes, the sum of $3265; Georgetown, $3991; Innisfil, $313; Nottawasaga, $152; Headford, $905. Besides these items, there is a considerable sum for School purposes.

From the Flora-cultural garden of R. H. Smith, Esq., we have received our most beautiful bouquet we have seen this season. It contains not less than fifteen varieties, and embraces some of the finest dahlias to be seen this season of the year. Our Ag Society have offered a prize for the best bouquet, and such an one as above referred to would stand entitled to it.

On Tuesday last we had the pleasure of visiting the farm of Dr. E. Morris, East Gwillimbury, and was much pleased at the order, cleanliness and tidyness of that gentleman's premises. We also had the pleasure of witnessing the trial of one of Billings & Forsyth's Grain Drills, which the Dr. had just purchased. The fellow was in excellent condition and with dry seed the Drill worked to perfect admiration; with some newly bound seed, well soaked, it did not work so well; but we make no doubt by allowing the grain to stand a few hours, the Drill would do its work to perfection. Altogether, we spent a very pleasant day with Dr. Morris, one that will be long remembered.

The County Council of Simcoe have certainly distinguished themselves in getting up their Address to the Prince. Of course it was drafted by a special Committee, but as it finally passed muster and received the sanction of the whole Council, the hall stands clear against the whole body, and is as follows:

"We pray you to accept a hearty welcome to the Royal County of Simcoe, as the worthy relation of your Royal Mother, long may she be preserved, a pattern to the rulers and a blessing in the land!" It is an old saying—"He is never too old to learn," and its truthfulness is clear in the present instance, for we are sure it will be news to most people in Canada, to learn that the Royal County of Simcoe is a "wonderful relation of Her Majesty," also that the County so conducts its affairs as to be considered a pattern to other rulers, and a blessing to the land!"

Congregational S. School.

The friends in connection with the above school gave the scholars a picnic in the chapel grounds on Wednesday last. The day was very pleasant, and all enjoyed themselves as well as could have been desired. In the evening a public meeting was held; addresses were delivered, and the scholars sang a number of hymns and S. S. odes.

The proceedings commenced by the children singing an opening hymn: Miss Smith presiding at the melodeon, (and to whom, we may remark en passant, much credit is due for the pains she has taken to instruct and qualify the pupils to perform so creditably) after which the Rev. Thos. Baker, pastor of the church, offered up prayer.

On motion of R. H. Smith, Esq., seconded by John Boagart, Esq., the Rev. Mr. Baker was requested to preside as chairman on the occasion, which he did with his usual ability. He said he was pleased to meet with them on this interesting occasion, and he was also pleased to see so large a number present. It gave the children in connection with the school an opportunity to show that religion was not moroseness, but elevating. The world of mankind understood the value of poetry. In every language might be found national songs that call forth energies and prompt to action the chivalrous. In our country "Rule Britannia," and "God save the Queen," sent a thrill and revived a national spirit whenever sung. Yes, and Britons will be loyal and free so long as it is perpetuated. But while it was well to cultivate sentiments of loyalty, it was also necessary for the future happiness of the rising generation, that we inculcate the peaceful and holy principles of religion. [Hear, hear.] The children in these verses committed to memory, are taught these principles, and in this way much important truth. The young mind was ever on the enquiry, and by occupying it with the good, much evil was excluded. [Hear, hear.] The chairman then addressed himself personally to the children, giving them much wholesome advice, and urged them never to commit an act, or engage in any undertaking they thought God would not approve. [Applause.]

The children then sang— "The Sunday School Army."

Mr. Osmond was the first speaker introduced to the meeting. He commenced by expressing the pleasure he felt in standing associated with them. Long had he been convinced that the Sabbath School was an institution of vital importance to the church, the social circle, and the world. He was aware that many difficulties presented them solves calculated to obstruct their efficiency. He was also aware that a time was when parents considered the establishing of B. Schools would tend to take from them the duties properly belonging to the parent, and relieve them of the responsibilities properly devolving upon them. This theory, however, had long since exploded, and was now considered among the things that were. Parents now feel it a duty to aid and assist the institution by their prayers and contributions; and, judging from appearances to-night, he was satisfied the people in connection with this church were performing that duty nobly. [Hear, hear.] How laudable was the fact, however, that when parents have done all they can to save their children from the evils in the world, evil principles are instilled.

The Rev. gentleman then went on to show the influence of the Sabbath School on the family circle, and the world at large;—the rapid strides the institution was taking, and the many illustrious personages it had saved to the world. He then addressed a few words by way of encouragement to the children, which were well received. Mr. Osmond's speech occupied about twenty minutes, and was frequently applauded during its delivery.

The children then sang—"The Pilgrim Christian."

Rev. Mr. MacEachern was next introduced, who said it was with feelings of no ordinary gratification he appeared before them. They met this evening as friends of different denominations, for the promotion of God's glory and the salvation of precious souls. In our Sabbath Schools we behold young Canadians—herein, too, was our future church. Shut up in little acorn was a grain that if properly planted and trained would shoot forth a tree capable of withstanding the fiercest winds,—and shut up in the minds of some of these little ones may be forces of thought and powers of perception capable of accomplishing wonderful things for God's church and their fellow men. Who can tell? The speaker then went on to show the force of the inflexible and inexorable law of habit. He considered this law would exert an influence over our moral, physical and intellectual natures—that man was always subject to it. Its influence was never suspended. When we think of this, and then reflect that by precept or example we may give a bias by the agency of Sabbath School instruction—forming them into glorious and symmetrical characters, we partially realize the responsibility resting upon us. [Hear, hear.] Here it is in the power of Parents and Teachers to make them glorious beings; and it was also possible (fearful thought) for us to be their curse—their eternal ruin. In view of these facts, it was a solemn thing to live; and he prayed God, that as parents and teachers they might have that assisting grace which would enable them to live in the discharge of every known duty—and thereby contribute to the formation of virtuous and holy characters. The Rev. gentleman then addressed a few remarks to the children assembled—picture to their fancy what they might become in endeavoring to cultivate and follow proper laws of habit. His remarks were well received, and on concluding was loudly applauded.

Sunday 8. Choir—"I've a Father in the promised land."

Mr. R. Cooke was next introduced to the meeting. After a few introductory remarks, he said: "I was thinking not only of what these children enjoy, but what they know. Adults seldom give children credit for what they know. He knew what it was to have to do with Sabbath Schools; he was also pretty well aware of the difficulties these institutions had to contend against; but they were accomplishing much good. When we reflect for one moment upon the truths instilled—how that they were forming characters that would tell, in connection with the future destiny of Canada; he considered it a glorious work, a work in which they should all engage, that the youth now growing up might be rendered a blessing to themselves, to the church, and to the world at large. Mr. Cooke then spoke of the difficulty in obtaining faithful teachers; and concluded by urging upon parents the necessity of visiting and encouraging the Sabbath School. [Applause.]

The children then sang in quick succession a few remarks being made by the chairman between each piece,—"Hark! the Sabbath Bells are Ringing," "Come, and Welcome," "We all love one another."

Mr. Peter Pearson made a few well-timed remarks, and was followed by Mr. Jackson, after which the children again sung two or three more pieces.

R. H. Smith, Esq., then proposed a vote of thanks to the speakers, which was carried unanimously.

Mr. Pearson moved a vote of thanks to the children for the very creditable way they had performed their part this evening.—Carried.

A vote of thanks was then given the chairman, to which he replied in his usual happy style.

Mr. Trent proposed a vote of thanks to Miss Smith for the interest she had manifested, the care she had taken, and the manner in which she had instructed the children of the school. He thought great credit was due Miss Smith for her labors. To enable these children to sing so creditably must have taken much time and required much personal sacrifice. The motion was carried almost unanimously.

The proceedings terminated by the chairman pronouncing the benediction. Altogether, it was a most pleasant affair; and we most heartily join in the opinion generally expressed on that occasion, that much credit is due Miss Smith for the very commendable way in which the children performed.—The collection amounted to nearly £3.

Sabbath School Concert.

Pursuant to an arrangement the Concert for the benefit of St. Paul's Church Sabbath School, which took place on Thursday evening last. Although the attendance was not quite so large as could have been wished, yet, considering the appearance of the weather, it was very fair—the proceeds amounting to about $30.

The singing on the occasion was superior—decidedly so—to anything we heard in this place, by local amateurs. There were twenty-two singers—Mr. P. L. Butler, being the leader.—Mrs. Moulton presiding at the melodeon. We feel fully warranted in stating, that not an individual present but was highly pleased with the manner in which the various pieces were rendered,—which were executed much superior to the most sanguine expectations of a majority of the assembly.

It requires no little art to render sacred music so as to produce a good effect upon a promiscuous assembly; but we must give the amateurs, on the above occasion, the credit of having very successfully acquired it, for the grace with which the voices and soloes were sung and the force yet perfectly harmonious manner with which the chorus were rendered gave unmistakable evidence of the ability of the performers. We have much pleasure in congratulating them upon the success of the concert.

Rev. Mr. Osmond was the first speaker introduced to the meeting. He commenced by expressing the pleasure he felt in standing associated with them. Long had he been convinced that the Sabbath School was an institution of vital importance to the church, the social circle, and the world. He was aware that many difficulties presented them
